

How much do homes in the Experience Series Cost?

The chart below outlines the range of pricing for the completion of a single Details home<sup>1</sup> from the Experience series on a level lot. The cost of completion - sometimes referred to as building the house proper - is from foundation to finish and includes the Details home, the foundation, transport to your site, setting of the home, and all interior/exterior finish work needed in order to hand you the keys of a completed home. It does not include land, permits, site preparation or landscaping.

The figures here are presented as a basic guideline to assist you in developing a budget for your project. To get a rough estimate of where your project might fall in this budget range scale, think through how the following factors relate to your site:

- Local trade competition/labor prices
- Distance of the site from the Details production facility
- Technical construction specifications for the site such as seismic zones, snow loads, and fire code requirements
- Site specific issues such as slopes, soil issues, and access

Because these costs can vary widely by location, you will need to get a bid from a Details Authorized Builder (DAB) to determine exact pricing.

To determine a budget for the model of your choice, multiply the total square footage of your model by the per square foot price range in the table. This will give you an order of magnitude price range for a completed home on your level lot.

Series Name		Budget Range (per s.f.)
Experience		$120 - $150
Homes	Square Footage
COZY	1002
REACH	1198
IMAGINE	1603
INSPIRE	1936

For example, the budget range to complete the Cozy (1002 sq. ft.) would be:
 1002 square feet x $120.00 = $120,240 to 1002 Square feet x $150.00 = $150,300

<sup>1</sup>This pricing reflects a single home purchased by a consumer. When multiple homes are purchased by a developer/builder for a project, economies of scale can be achieved that will reduce this per-home pricing. Please contact us for pricing on this type of project.
